STREETS ALLEGED TO BE CLEAN.

The opring street-cleaning (such as it is), which began March 6, was finished yesterday by Captain Williams and his 400 sweepers. They were at work the whole day—twenty men in each precinct, as amal—using 399 carts, and carrying off 4,000 loads of street dust. Some of the more important thoroughfares were swept by machines belonging to the Bureau. Two thousand five hundred loads of the Ewcepings were taken to sea in four scows, and more will follow to-day. The streets swept yesterday, according to Deputy-Inspector Plunkett's report, are as follows:

West Broadway, from Canal-st. to Chambers-st.; Church-st., from Warren-st. to Canal-st.; North Moore, Beach and Franklin-sts., from West Broadway to Hudson-st.; South-st., from Catherine-st. to Jefferson-st., and two blocks of Frout-st.; Canal-st., from Broadway to West-st.; from Catherine-st. to Jefferson-st., and two blocks of Frout-st.; Canal-st., from Broadway to West-st.; from Broadway to Mercer-st.; Tenth-st., from Greenwich-st. to West-st.; Charles-st., from Hudson-st. to West-st.; Four-teenth-st., from Greenwich-st. to Fourteenth-ave.; Theist-st., from Hudson-st. to Fourteenth-ave.; Twelfth-st., from Greenwich-st. to Thirteenth-ave.; Twelfth-st., from Hudson-st. to Thirteenth-ave.; Twelfth-st., from Hudson-st., Torm Hous-ton-st. to Fourteenth-st.; Clinton-st., from Hous-ton-st. to Fourteenth-st.; Clinton-st., from Hous-ton-st. to Fourteenth-st.; Clinton-st., strom Hous-ton-st. to Fourteenth-st.; Clinton-st., from Hous-ton-st. to First-st.; Houston-st., Trem Avenue-B to Columbia-st.; six blocks of Rivington-st.; Attorney and Pitt-sts.; Canal-st., from the Bowery to Broadway; Franklin, Leonard, White and Walker-sts., from Broadway to Centre-st.; parts of Christopher and Washington-sts., in the Fifteenth Precinct; West-st., from Canal-st. to Twelfth-st.; Avenue-A, from Eighth-st. to Fourteenth-st.; Flifteenth-st., from Fifteenth-st., from Fifteenth-st., from Canal-st. to Twelfth-st.; Avenue-A, from Eighth-st. to Fourteenth-st.; Fou

IMPRISONED IN THEIR OWN ROOM.

There are two literary societies in the University of the City of New-York, each having about thirty members. Between the societies there has long existed a most friendly feeling. All legitimate means have been resorted to in obtaining new members, and the students have gathered once a week in their respective rooms at the fourth floor of the University building without the slightest discord. This happy dwelling together of the brothers was somewhat disturbed a few days ago in consequence of the repeated defeats which one society has sustained in debating with the other. Determined to score at least one victory this year the defeated society attempted to do it in the following manner.

The day previous to their opponents regular meeting, holes were made in the door and casing of the lodge-room, and heavy screws and a coil of large wire were secured with which to fasten the door. Not suspecting any trick the society assembled at the regular hours, and bolted the door of their room to keep out intruders. A debate followed, and during the discussion the committee from the other society was hard at work. A decision having been reached the meeting adjourned, but not to leave the room. Finding the door more securely fastened than with bolts, a panel was broken out, when the cause was revealed. In attempting to remove the fastenings they were pounded on the hands by outsiders. Something must be done. An informal meeting was held, and a Freshman suggested taking the table and battering down the door. The vote in favor of this proposition was unanimous. The society got out finally, but the table, chairs and lodge-room generally looked as if there had been a riot. Chair legs, door fragments and table ruins strewed the floor. The society which played the trick is nervously expecting a retaliatory attack.

TROUBLE IN SECURING A PRISONER.

Two officers of the Seventh Precinct in Brooklyn saw three men with a boat-load of railroad iron acting suspiciously on Newtown Creek Saturday night. They were nearer the Long Island City side of the creek, and the officers started across the bridge in Manhattan-ave, to intercept them if they attempted to land. The men, seeing that they were observed, pulled hastily to a wharf on the Long Island City side, and, abandoning the boat, fed. The officers started in pursuit, and, with the aid of a Long Island City officer, captured one of the men, Dennis Campbell. They then attempted to bring the prisoner and the boat across the creek to Brooklyn. The boat was loaded nearly to the water's edge, and in getting Campbell, who is a large, stout man, on board he managed to rock the boat so that she upset, and the two officers and the prisoner were thrown into the water. The boat sank, and the two policionen swam ashore, and again secured their prisoner, whom they then brought to Brooklyn ever the bridge. Michael Canavan was afterward arrested as one of the men originally in the boat. It is supposed that the men are river thieves, and that they had stolen the iron.

ORGANIZING A BRANCH LAND LEAGUE. TROUBLE IN SECURING A PRISONER.

A CONGREGATION'S QUICK RESPONSE.

The trustees of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church last week decided to ask for $26,000 for the purpose of improving the interior of the church building and securing better light and ventilation. Dr. Armitage announced the decision yesteriay morning, and said he would call upon members of the church in the course of the week for subscriptions. George H. Andrews objected to asking the paster to become a collector of subscriptions, and another member suggested that an effort be made to raise the money after the close of the service for subscriptions. Although the congregation had not before heard that any improvements were under consideration, nearly $20,500 was subscribed in less than an hour. About three years ago the church paid a debt of about $30,000.

ANOTHER CLUB APARTMENT HOUSE. ANOTHER CLUR APARTMENT HOUSE.

The rocks are now being blasted on the south side of Fifty-ninth-st., between Sixth and Saventh-aves, to make way for a new apartment house, which will be known as the "Hawthorne." It will cost $125,000, and the three lots were purchased for $63,000 by the Hawthorne Apartment Association. The fourteen stockholders will live in the house, and there will remain six additional spartments to be rented. The structure will be eight stories in height with a frontage of seventy-five feet and a depth of ninety feet. It will probably be ready for use late in the fall.

WHY W. H. VANDERBILT GOES ABROAD.

William H. Vanderbilt, accompanied by Samuel F. Barger, will sail for England April 30 on the White Star steemer Germanic. Mr. Vanderbilt was galled upon yesterday by a reporter of The Tribune. He was in excellent health and spirits.

"I sha'l be away only a short time," Mr. Vanderbilt was caked.

"I sha'l be away only a short time," Mr. Vanderbilt replied. "I have had my passage engaged by two or three steamers, but business has prevented my leaving the city before. I take the voyage for recreation principally, and shall probably return on the same steamer on which I go across."

"How much truth is there in the statement that you are about to purchase from Mr. Coleman his place of Stoke Pogis in Buckinghamshire, England?"

"It is all remarks. I have no interest the statement that you are about the purchase from Mr. Coleman his place of Stoke Pogis in Buckinghamshire, England?"

place of Stoke Pogis in Buckinghamanne, England ?"
"It is all romance. I have no intention of purchasing the place. There is about as much trath in it as the statement that I have been selling New-York Central and Hudson River Railroad stock. The fact is, that I have not sold or bought a share of that stock in the last thirty days. It is on a par with many of the newspaper stories of my buying and selling stocks."

"How about your consultations with the subcommittee of the World's Fair Committee?"
"I have held no direct communication with the World's Fair Committee since General Grant resigned the presidency, several weeks ago."

INHUMANITY OF A SEA CAPTAIN.

INHUMANITY OF A SEA CAPTAIN.

John Lawson, a sailor who arrived here last Wednesday on the ship Ophelia, tells a story of inhumanity on the part of Captain Carney, of the ship Charles Dennis, of Bath, Me. Lawson said that he was one of the crew on the Charles Dennis when she left here November 25, 1879, bound for Japan. When 100 days out, in the Southern Indian Ocean, between the Cape of Good Hope and Australia, John Thomas, a seaman, was swept overboard by a wave. When the captain appeared on deck he made no effort to save the man. After the sailors had shown disapproval of the captain's action he ordered a beat to be lowered to search for the man. It was then an hour and a half after the man had disappeared, and the sea was so rough that the task was considered useless. The boat, however, started with several men and they soon disappeared from view.

The captain remained in his cabin for about two hours and then appeared on deck. A squall arose in the meantime and the captain took the bearings and stated that the vessel was 2,000 miles from land. He said plainly that he did not think the men could get back to the vessel, and he thought it would be hazardons to undertake to search for them. So he ordered the remainder of the crew to get to work, and the vessel continued on its voyage. The cargo of oil was unloaded at Yokohama, and when the vessel was ready to start again the captain would not give the men their back pay.

The vessel sailed for Iloilo, and left that place 200 days ago, nearly forty days ahead of the Ophelia. There is no way to account for her delay as she is much faster than the Ophelia. Captain Efford, of the Ophelia, said that he had heard much talk in Yokohama about Captain Carney's action.

SCENES IN THE PARKS.

SCENES IN THE PARKS.

Nature, which has been trying the patience of New-York with all kinds of changing weather, has lately relented, and yesterday almost surfeited the city with warmth and cheerfulness. Persons, though they remembered the recent unseasonable cold and storms, could not help smiling in the face of such a perfect day. Naturally, the parks were a great attraction. Thousands of men, women and children went to the Ceotral Park in the afternoon; many of the little people to behold the long stretches of green grass for the first time. These evidently enjoyed the day most of anybody, as they stared in wide-eyed wonder, and not a cry of petulance could be heard from them. Every walk in the 1ark had its promenaders, and as the trees have not yet leaved out sufficiently to obstruct the view, the Park presented a panorann of life and motion.

As is usual on Sunday, most of the visitors were of the working and poorer classes. Yet there was a large number of richly dressed persons who evidently were not willing to lose the pleasure of a walk in the Park while the weather is just right for enjoyment and the grass wears its brightest green. People wandered at will yesterday over the Green, the Ramble and the menagerie was too dense for comfort. Persons who did not care to enter the the throng around the memageric was too dense for comfort. Persons who did not care to enter the stifling air inside the buildings watched the indo-lent sea lions and six long-legged ostriches, who daintily snipped the tender grass in an enclosure. The boats on the lake were kept in almost constant daintily snipped the tender grass in an enclosure. The boats on the lake were kept in almost constant motion, as also were the goat-carriages and the donkeys, though the latter moved very leisurely. The more aesthetic visitors made the piherimage to the obelisk, and threw back their heads before it. The willows are the only trees that have made much headway in coming out. A single variety of shrub is the first to flower, putting forth a small yellow blossom. As the Thinave reporter passed through the upper part of the Park, the note of a robin was heard, but he was too shy to show himself Many vehicles passed over the drives, but the pedestrians were largely in the ascendant. A park policeman at the Scholarst Gate said at 5:30 p. m. that 14,000 persons had entered at that gate, besides 3,000 carriages. Probably over 60,000 persons visited the place in the course of the day.

The downtown parks were well tilled by the persons living near them. Tompkins-square was converted into a kindlergarten by the troops of highthaited German children. Madison and Unionsquares had their quota of laughing children and thoughtful adults. In Washington Park there was a large gathering, despite the discouragement of a dry fountain. The Battery was a favorite place to catch the fresh west wind, and was well patronized.

Louisa Douglas, age sixteen, who said that she lived in Boston and had come on to this city three weeks ago to seek employment in some theatre, was found wandering in Broadway late Saturday aght and was placed in the care of Matron Webb, at Police Headquarters. Yestewiay she said that she had been staying for awhile at a house in Fourthave, but she would not give the mane of anyone belonging to the house. Her father was dead, she said, and her stepfather, a Mr. Kenyon, had made her earn her own living. The only person she knew in this city was a consin named Jacob Baum, who had induced her to come to New-York, but he had not assisted her.

A tenement property in Harlem now yields 35 per cent on the investment. Rents for next year have been increased to add 12 per cent, and as the result, the entire building will be vacated May 1.

"If you are in need, I will make you a present of $50, but I will not pay higher rent," was the sareastic proposition of a tenant in the amexed district to his landlord, recently. Alas! it was smilingly

AN UNKNOWN SUICIDE.

The police of the First Precinct were informed yesterday morning that an unknown man about sixty years old had jumped overboard from Pier No. 6, East River, and had been drowned. The body was not recovered. He had gray hair and beard and was dressed in ragged brown clothes.

WRITING THE WRONG NAME BY MISTAKE.

A rather amusing blunder was made by one of the clerks of the Yorkville Police Court yesterday. Thomas O'Brien was arrested by Officer Morris Tracy, of the Twenty-second Precinct, Saturday night, for being drunk and disorderly, and Justice Kilbreth yesterday gave him ten days. The clerk in making out the commitment inserted the name of the officer instead of the prisoner, and the result was that when the officer and his prisoner got down to the prison the jailer detained both as prisoners until the mistake was rectified. Judge Neilson, in the City Court Saturday, granted a stay of execution pending an appeal.

The statement of Police Commissioner Jourdan to the captains of the various precincts that they should be held personally responsible for the infrastions of the law overlooked by offers under them produced an effect yesterday. The Excise law was apparently never so well kept, Not an unusual number of arrests was made, only four being reported up to a late hour last evening, but the places where access to the bar ecold be secured by customary patrons were closed even to them, and attempts to gain admittance to runshops by the "family entrance" or private door were fattle.

The animal, it is alleged, was treated so craelly that it died where it fell. Onicer Goggan, of Mr. Bergh's Society, being informed of the case, subsequently arrested the men and took them before Justice Garrett, of Stapleton, who fined them.

PREPARING FOR THE PRIMARIES.

The sub-committee of the Committee of One Handred engaged in the work of endcayoring to reorganize the Democracy in this city, has nearly cou-pleted the preliminaries for holding the primaries of Tuesday evening. There are 668 election districts in the city, and a primary election will be held in each t choose delegates to compose the various Assembly Dis-trict Committees. It has been no small job to find places triet Committees. It has been no small job to find places in the respective election districts in which to hold the primaries. A Supervisor had to be selected for each primary. Lists of places and Supervisors have been submitted to the Supervisory Committee, and in most of the Assembly Districts there are already two factions, each of whom desires to obtain control of the machinery of the new organization. In order to prevent a split at the outset the committee has selected from the lists received in such a way as to give all the face. the outset the committee has scheded from the lists presented in such a way as to give all the factions representation. It is apparent that there will be a sharp struggle for control in most of the Assembly bistricts. The representation by delegates is based on the number of bemorrale votes cast at the last Presidential election in the respective election districts. Some are only entitled to one delegate, while many will have three. The total number of delegates to be elected is 1.210. The Assembly Postrict having the smallest number is the XIth, the banner Republican district, which is only entitled to thirty two delegates, and the largest is the IVth, which has sixty six.

The result of these primaries is looked forward to with a good deal of interest by politicians of all shades of opinion. If it proves a success, nominations and elections of a time, at least, will be less under the control of the "machine" politicians of all factions. It is claimed by the friends of the movement that it effectively greaks up the "one-man power," and gives the voters at large an opportunity to express their will in the formation of the Assembly District committees where virtually all the political power is placed, and from which the delegates to the various nominating conventions are chosen.
